

TORNAPART

Two scream, five make the noise...

...what might sound like boredom is in truth a grooving mix of two shouters, catchy guitar riffs, propulsive bass and drums as well as individual atmospheric samples. Melodies meet hardness, guitars meet samples, and together this blows you away.

In recent years the band has been showing that they are absolutely able to rock the clubs and turn every moshpit into a dancefloor.

Ghost X-35...

... is a clear announcement that the international newcomer-scene is joined by a very auspicious and exciting band. Furthermore TORNAPART know how to manage themselves by keeping a tight hold on the reins, be it concerning the artwork or the production. Instead of disappearing in the mass of usual core-bands, they pleasantly stick out of the mainstream with seven inventive and musical mature songs, that could not be more varied and diversified. This concept works and the sinister-cold industrial sounds brutally hit the ass-kicking angry metal, that is combined with impressive intros and interludes.
